BROCKUNIER STUDIO APARTMENT MOODBOARD

Inspiration for DIY headboard. Fun pom garland brings colorful touch.

White bedding with textured detail adds visual interest while staying cozy and inviting.

Assorted throw pillows tie in color scheme.

Sage green sheets and marigold throw blanket for pop of color.

Plug-in wall sconce above nightstand. Aloe plant sits on top.

DIY crate nightstand with hairpin legs, stained to match other wood in the space.

Beautiful green paint on the walls, chosen from samples.

Vintage art brings personality while tying in color scheme.

Inspiration for dresser.

Rustic key & mail holder next to dresser.

Pulling inspiration from the beautiful vintage art-print and the colorful bohemian rug, I chose Livable Green by Sherwin Williams for the wall color, and Flora by Benjamin Moore for the half-moon arch headboard. This created a bedroom "zone" within the studio apartment.

I built the crate nightstand and installed a plug-in sconce - a perfect solution for renters who need extra lighting. The lighter stain on the wood complements the dark flooring, and the use of raw materials fits in with the desired bohemian design style.

Floor lamp casts an inviting glow in living room area.

Colorful Turkish rug is a showstopper, and pulls in all the colors of the space.

Black brackets and decorator's wood are perfect for books & other items needed to be stored vertically.

Ladder desk provides storage and a vertical workspace. Pressed leather desk chair elevates the office corner.

Options for counter stools.

Tall fiddle leaf fig tree in woven basket separates the desk from the dresser.

Wine fridge tucked under bar counter.

Hanging a double curtain-rod with a combination of white sheers and linen drapes served the dual purpose of filtering light and providing privacy. The choice of the sofa helped give this area of the studio apartment a "moment" and the navy picks up the details from the rug beautifully. Rattan accents continue on the bohemian feel.

Opposite the living room area is the office. By using a ladder desk and thus, the available vertical space in the room, we were able to maximize the client's usability without compromising the spatial footprint.

Pegboard storage installed, freeing up limited cupboard space.

New light fixture if budget permits.

Vertical wine storage with fun citrus tapestry.

Temporary backsplash ties into living room space while making kitchen feel like a new zone.

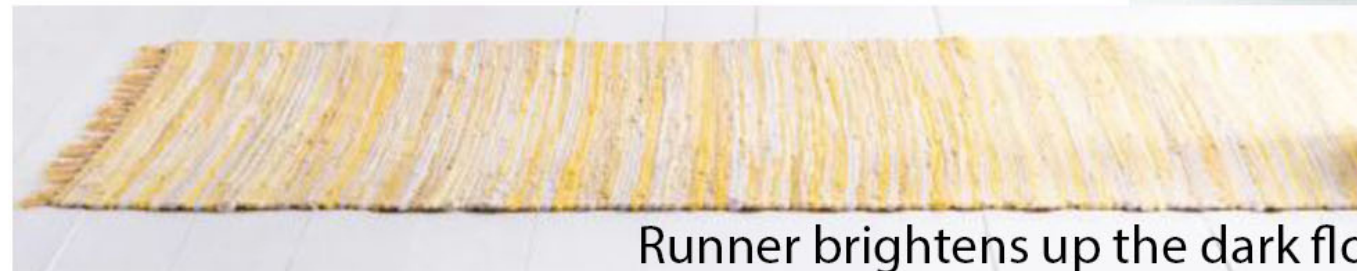

Think "vertical". Wall mounted paper towel holder + magnetic knife strip.

Two spice rack shelves above sink/counter area for extra storage.

Long wood shelf with black brackets stretches the length of the pegboard wall.

Runner brightens up the dark flooring.

Greenery shower curtain continues green color story in a fun new way.

Dark green bathmat ties in shower curtain.

Ladder shelf over toilet provides vertical storage. Wood adds warmth to white bathroom.

New towel ring by sink.

Pretty accents on ladder.

Over the door towel hanging with fun wood knobs.

A tiny kitchen can still make an impact with intentional details, like this hand-stenciled tile backsplash.
